Success Through Innovation:

Our goal is to breed plants that work for you. You the grower, you the landscaper, you the garden center owner, and you the consumer. For years we've asked what you need or want. You have requested; plants that fit in racks, ones with extended shelf life, extended bloom time, disease resistance, hardiness, and colors that do not fade. Our breeders have really delivered.

We are very proud that The National Garden Bureau has appointed 2012 as the "Year of the Heuchera." Heuchs have truly become an international superstar, shining from Tokyo to Moscow. We couldn't be prouder of our work on this genus. It's not just Heuchera anymore. Our innovative breeding has extended to 49 other genera in this catalog alone!

We are embracing "new marketing," like Facebook®, Twitter®, Flickr®, YouTube®, blogs, and an informative website to get our message out. Eberly & Collard Public Relations are doing a great job of PR for us. Friend us on our Facebook® site and you'll have links to all of the above. We now have tags with QR codes and descriptions in Spanish and English to help your customers get the information they need.

Our use of high technology in our lab and the greenhouse have helped us to become market leaders. Our newest plants are already being grown in our recently expanded laboratory capable of growing 7.5 million plants a year. Improvements in our facilities and lean-flow processes have allowed us to produce a better plant at a better price.

We fill the niche of the "affordable luxury." Our plants offer value in being perennial; many have extended periods of attractiveness in the garden. This appeals to growers, retailers, and of course, the consumer.

Horticulturally yours,

Echinacea Grower Tips:

- Echinaceas tolerate a wide range of soil-types, but all soils must have good porosity and a pH over 5.0. Liquid-feed regimens of 50 to 100 ppm are good for growing plants.
- Echinaceas start to flower at 13 hours of light, and dormancy is not required for flowering.

Terra Nova® Echinaceas

- The Pros:
- The most exciting color range on the market
 - The most diverse flower forms
 - The most advanced breeding
 - The most requested varieties
 - Non fading blooms
 - Excellent profit
 - American native

- The Low Down:
- Low water usage
 - Low fertilizer needs
 - Low pesticide use

Other Echinaceas

- Plants split open in the rain
- Uncertain flower color (early hybrids)
- Fading flowers
- Weak stems
- Limited growth habits
- Limited flower types
- Limited color range
- Poor overwintering success

- The Low Down:
- Low consumer product confidence
 - Low consumer demand

- Plants started in the fall (September or October) from a 72 cell size would need to be bulked up for over-wintering in a 2.5"-3.0" container size or equivalent cell pack. These can be quickly finished when potted on after growth starts in the spring. This step will significantly cut losses due to overpotting in the fall. This is not recommended for Northern growers without heated (overwintering) facilities.
- Plants started in the spring or summer during rapid growth can go directly to their full size container as long as careful attention is paid to the planting depth and crowns are not buried. Be careful not to overwater small plants in large containers. Caution is also needed when applying slow release fertilizers as a top dress to insure that the fertilizer does not settle around the crown of the plant. Don't use a quick-release form as it can damage the roots.

Heuchera Grower Tips:

- ### How to succeed with Heuchera
- Select the right Terra Nova® Heuchera for your region.
 - Use well drained, organic soilless media, pH at 5.8 to 6.2.
 - Plant Heuchera crowns high, allow soil to settle in.
 - Use liquid feed at about 50 to 100 PPM.
 - Use slow release sparingly, approximately 1# of N per cubic yard of soil.
 - Each microclimate of the country is different, so use local weather data accordingly.
 - Best grown in shallow, bulb pots.
 - Yellow and gold forms are used to brighten shady areas, therefore testing should be done under 30% shade.

- ### How to fail with Heuchera
- Bury the crown of the plug; it's the #1 killer!
 - Plant in heavy soil.
 - Over-pot a small plant or over-feed anytime of the year.
 - Use automated planters without checking planting depth.
 - Grow in too low light.
 - Use coco coir as your primary soil component.
 - Grow them like annuals.
 - Use a heavy dose of time release fertilizer.

Pulmonaria

“Give us a foliage plant that deer won’t eat!” our customers shout. We have them, and even more attributes that make our Pulmonarias the best for every region of the country. Terra Nova® Pulmonarias thrive in the Pacific Northwest of course, but in the Midwest? – Oh yeah!

Plant trials in Ohio stunned us with the performance of our Pulmonarias. Our Pulmonarias were far more heat and humidity tolerant than we ever imagined. Vigorous, mildew free leaves, topped by strongly colored flowers in corals, reds, and blues enhance the early spring value to both the retailer and the end consumer. Today’s consumers love the fact that Pulmonaria are excellent hummingbird plants and feed foraging honey bees early in the season.

PULMONARIA 'HIGH CONTRAST'

PULMONARIA 'RASPBERRY SPLASH'

Try some Terra Nova® Pulmonaria; you’ll see the difference in performance and sales!

2012 Tiarella Program

Tiareella American Trail™ Series

These were bred for good trailing habit, nice leaf-markings, variable leaf shapes and attractive flowers. Hardiness and deer-resistance are a given with this new Series. These spreaders are more drought tolerant as they tend to send out roots at more points. These, in turn, can “find” more moisture.

Viola 'Heartthrob' PP19996

The lovely heart-shaped leaves have deep burgundy centers that contrast with the bright green leaf edges. A wonderful foliage plant that is attractive in containers, the front of the border, or as a ground cover. Z 5-9 8/12/7

Yucca filamentosa 'Color Guard'

This striking yellow-centered foliage makes a great addition to the garden. In the winter the yellow stripes turn an awesome coral color. Creamy white, fragrant flowers on large spikes in late summer. Z 4-9 ☀ 20/24/48

Yucca rostrata 'Sapphire Skies' (Cistus)

A vigorous selection with elegant powder blue leaves which hold their color year-round. Over the years it will form an upright, unbranched tree with a stout trunk to about 4'. The hardest of the trunk forming Yuccas. Another rare and exciting plant find brought to us from our friends at Cistus Nursery. Z 5-11 (if winter dry and with wind protection) ☀ 16/16/36

New Lab Facility

We have used outside labs from Indonesia to Germany to keep up with the demand that our own lab could not supply. With the current market conditions we found it feasible to expand our laboratory and weaning facility three fold and we are now in full production. Our satellite labs around the world will continue to grow for their own markets, and will provide a backup to our genetics and production. This has enabled us to reduce the price of many of our items and open new markets.

Terra Nova®'s Broker Program

Terra Nova® is moving in new directions. Our product offerings are entering into new markets and the customers we find there are used to enhanced services that broker networks offer. We are proud to bring brokers into the Terra Nova® circle. By doing this, we offer a multitude of ordering and financial options through these new partners. All Terra Nova® customers, whether direct or represented by a broker, will still enjoy access to Terra Nova®'s support network. Culture sheets, photography, and grower solutions will all be shared across the board. Please contact our Sales Team to obtain any information a broker rep may be unable to answer.

Old Plug

72 Cell
Heuchera 'Georgia Peach'

Liner Promotion

Terra Nova®'s plugs have grown up!

Have you noticed the difference in Terra Nova®'s plugs lately? Our new 72 cells are taller, allowing a better capillary column and more root potential. Plants like Coreopsis, Penstemon, and Scabiosa are much fuller, thanks to our new cut and clean machine that trims our plants with razor-sharp teeth and encourages more bushiness and more blooms.

Garden Centers

Terra Nova® did a friendly take-over of Al's Garden Center in Sherwood, OR. They wanted to demonstrate how to best display their fabulous line of perennials in a real situation. Take note of how our plants are displayed to the best advantage and how our (free) individual product profiles make plant information easy to read in a graphically clean display. Our marketing manager, Dave Doolittle, literally had to fend off customers wanting to "poach" his displays. Let's hope they'll swarm to your store with such a great display.

Product Profile Promotion

Terra Nova® has brought their customers a proven marketing tool - The Product Profile. These profiles present the following in a graphically clean display:

- Sharp photography in close-ups, landscape use, flower shots and seasonal interest shots
- Bullet points that cover the plant's top selling points and cultural information
- QR codes to provide more information

From farmer's market to large nursery, these signs can be silent salespeople, saving your staff valuable time. They can be printed as flyers to promote a specific plant or be presented in a PowerPoint™ format to augment talks given at the nursery. Add a little point to your customers' purchase!

Grower Recipes

Growers have approached us at our presentations for more growing information. We listened.

In winter, 2012, Terra Nova® is cooking up a great gift for growers; Grower Recipes. We want all growers to be successful, and to do so, we put together a succinct page for each plant we offer.

Each page contains the following information:

- Finish times and recommended pot sizes
- Detailed growing information
- Close up, landscape, and gallon container photography

These pages will be available on our website, www.terravanurseries.com and will be in a format that can be easily converted to PowerPoint™ files to keep on hand or train other growers.

Marketing - Social Media

In the not-so-recent past, the fax machine ruled the nursery office. Today, everything moves faster, especially information. Terra Nova® is not about to be left behind! From our inception in 1992 we have embraced the internet and have made our digital images available to our customers. We now have movies on YouTube®, a full-blown presence on Facebook®, pictures in Flickr®, a blog, and tweets can be heard through our halls. We support our growers with information sheets and our retailers with colorful, downloadable bed cards.

Marketing - Mobile Website

The growth in QR codes has been exponential. You will now see these codes in our ads, on our product profiles, and on our new plant tags. These link to the wealth of information on our website and hopefully drive the customer to further sales.

Smart phones are ubiquitous today. Perception suffers when viewing large websites on small screens. We are proud to announce that we now have a mobile platform of our website. Click in and check us out!

Marketing - Public Relations

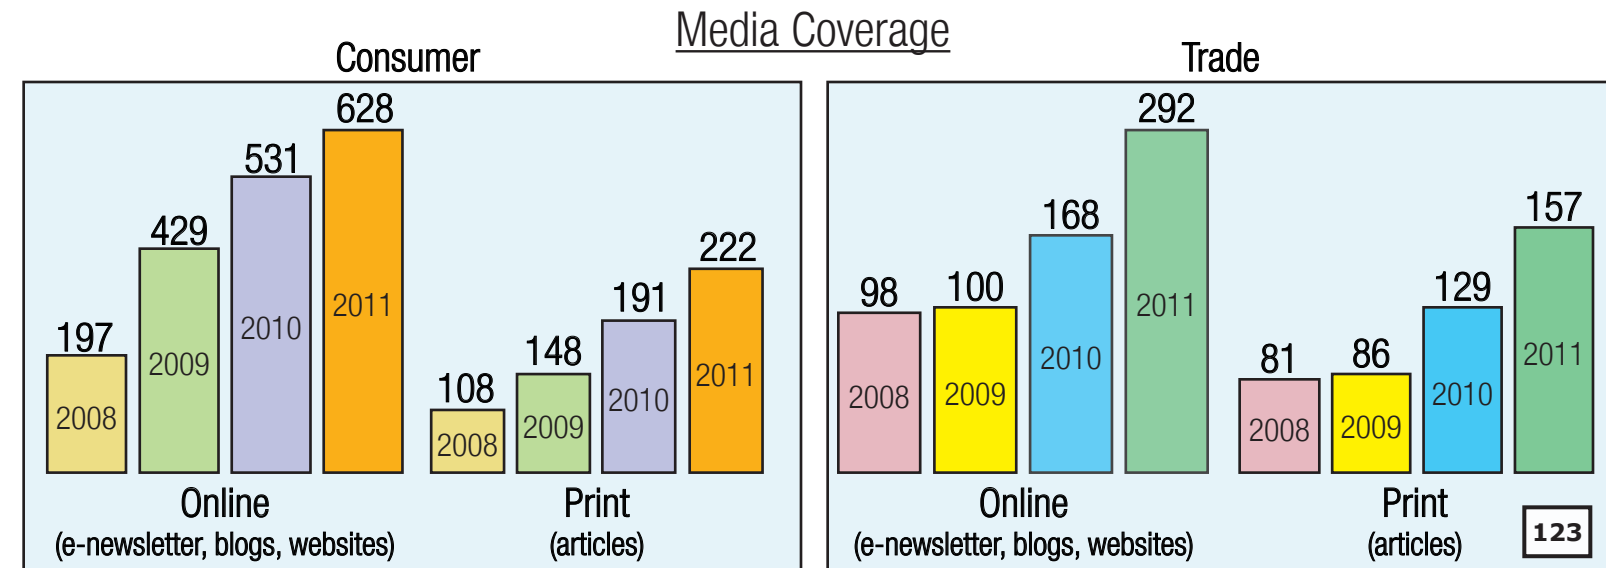

In this new world, it's not enough to just have a great plant. You have to get the word out. Our partners at the public relations firm of Eberly and Collard have done an outstanding job getting our plants and our goals into an increasingly large cadre of magazines, newspapers, blog-sites, radio, and TV. In a recession, advertising and marketing should be the last item cut. By retaining our public relations firm, and offering photography and copy, we feel we are reaching a lion's share of consumers and customers. One look at the figures will show you how our exposure is increasing in a down economy. This helps promote our plants and increase your profits!

All plants requiring special care will be marked with a "GROWER ALERT" label, corresponding to instructions enclosed in the box. Additional shipping charges may include:
